GERMANS IN DEFIANT MOOD

CABINET AND SHIP OWNERS DE-CLARE NATION WILL NOT BE COERCED.

By the Associated Press
PARIS, March 5.—At meeting of the German cabinet Monday morning attended by party leaders and delegates of ship owners it was agreed unanimously that Germany could not submit to coercion from the entente powers either in armistice negotiations or in peace pact parleys proper, according to a Zurich dispatch to Le Journal. The German government declared it will decline all responsibility for possible consequences if the "entente" tries to speculate on German patience.
Demands regarding requisition of shipping are held to be absolutely unacceptable because it would "definitely paralyze the country's economic future."

SENATE VOTES TO ADJOURN SATURDAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 5.—The senate yesterday unanimously adopted the house resolution setting Saturday as the day for the legislature to adjourn sine die.
When the house resolution was read Senator J. J. Smith of Miami moved its adoption. The motion was seconded quickly by Senator J. T. McIntosh, Democratic floor leader.
"We'll pass the buck back to the house," Senator McIntosh said.
The motion was adopted unanimously.
Senator McIntosh then moved the reconsideration of the vote by which the resolution was adopted and moved that the motion lie on the table. This is a parliamentary practice used in the senate to preclude any possibility of reconsideration of a proposition to which it is applied. This motion brought a storm of "no" votes, but Lieut.-Gov. M. E. Trapp declared it had carried.
"We have called the bluff of the house," said Senator S. L. Johnson. "Now we'll see what it does."
Few senators were of the opinion that the house would stand hunched on its resolution. They believe the house will retract its former action.

Soya Bean Oil Production.
Soya bean oil, which originates principally in Manchuria, is almost entirely controlled by Japanese. The supply of beans last year was very large and the amount of oil turned out was limited only by the capacity of mills. A number of large new plants were started both in Manchuria and Japan and most of the already established mills increased their capacity.

Why Business Fails.
Dr. Malcolm Kell of the University of Pennsylvania attributes the 15,000 to 20,000 business failures which occur annually to one or more of the following causes: Inexperience, unwise use of capital, employment of relatives, poor location and accounting, extension of credit and dishonesty.

Cheerfulness Wins.
Wonderous is the strength of cheerfulness, altogether past calculations its powers of endurance. Efforts, to be permanently useful, must be uniformly joyous—a spirit of sunshine—graceful from every gladness—beautiful because bright.

The government, however, the bulletin adds, has sent forces into Koenigsberg to put down the movement.

THE HEROIC SACRI- FICES OF FRANCE

Never in the world's history has any nation ever sacrificed so heroically of its blood and treasure than has France in the present world conflict. Her great peasant population have suffered and bled for democracy with undying fortitude. America also owes these people a great debt of gratitude for a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal disorders which it is reported has already saved many American lives and prevented thousands of surgical operations. Geo. H. Mayr, for years a leading Chicago chemist, imports and sells it in this country under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

A Bunch of Fresh Flowers.
If you have a friend who's discouraged or ill,
And a message you'd send that will give him a thrill

HINES SAYS FAILURE OF APPROPRIATION WILL NOT CAUSE CHANGE NOW.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 5.—The government has no intention relinquishing control of the railroads as a result of the failure of congress to appropriate funds for the railroads administration, Director General Hines announced today.
The railroads did not contemplate raising rates as a means of dealing with the financial predicament, Hines said, and explained that every effort will be made to continue operation as usual to avoid laying off employees and to finance the roads through private loans or through advances from the war finance corporation.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Ada on the first Monday in April.

JAPAN DEPORTS CHINESE COOLIE LABORERS

TOKIO, March 6.—The prohibition of cheap immigrant labor, except under special permission of the authorities, is by no means a dead letter in Japan. Eight hundred Chinese coolies recently were sent back to Antung under police escort by the home minister.
Commenting on this incident, M. Zumoto, editor of the Herald of Asia, tells his countrymen that the policy that excludes Japanese labor from America and Australia, makes it possible for Japanese laborers to earn a living at home.
The coolies in question had been imported from Antung by an iron manufacturer at Hiroshima, who lost $25,000 by the operation.

English Lavender and Mint.
The great secret of English lavender and mint lies in the soil—a light, friable, chalky soil, not often found in a climate congenial to both plants, yet essential to a perfect result. Each, in fact, may be grown with a certain measure of success on hill, in marshland, or meadow, for both are hardy, and, when well rooted, are nearly impervious to drought and frost.

Leagues of Nations in History.

President Wilson's league of nations to enforce peace is as old as the hills. There is nothing new under the sun—which is old in itself—and the birth of the idea, so far as history shows, dates back to 1923, when Robert II of France, known as the Godly, and Henry II of Germany, known as the Holy, met one August day on the banks of the River Meuse to discuss universal peace in monarchial and kingly manner. After considerable talk, which resulted in nothing tangible, they decided to go to Paris the next year to consult Pope Benedict VII. But the Pope and Henry, both being old, died before the meeting could take place. Henry's successor to the throne of Germany was ambitious, and instead of desiring universal peace, the world had universal war. Three hundred years later Dubois revived the scheme, and outlined a plan to Philip IV, of France, but the nations were too busy fighting to think of peace. But the idea germinated, and in 1517 Desiderius Erasmus mentions it as a favorite project to "assemble a congress of kings at Cambrai who were to enter into a mutual and indissoluble engagement to preserve the peace with each other and throughout all of Europe." Emperor Maximilian, Francis I, of France, Henry VIII, of England and Charles, sovereign of the Low Countries, were to meet, but nothing came of the project. A hundred years later Em-erie Cruce, in his book "Le Nouveau Cyneas" outlined his plan. It was published in 1622 and called "The New Cyneas" in honor of Cyneas, the famous Thessalonian orator. Cruce proposed the establishment of a universal union that should include Persia, China, Ethiopia, the East and West Indies, and the world in general. All nations were to be represented by Ambassadors, who should hold sessions at a neutral spot, Venice being suggested as being indifferent to Princes.—Leslie's Weekly.

JONES CHAPEL.

Rev. Pendagraff preached a fine sermon Sunday morning. Attendance was good.

Sunday school which was organized last Sunday was well attended, and a great interest was shown by all. Two able helpers were with us. Rev. Pendagraff and Mrs. Dora Damon.

J. L. Carmichel and wife of Lindsay are spending this week with W. W. Norton and family. Mr. Carmichel is an old resident of this country.

Our box supper Saturday night, was a great success. The proceeds were $51.16 which is to be used for the purpose of putting on the walls of the school room the pictures of the soldier boys of this community who have given their lives in the service, or were severely wounded. Pickett, Ada and Union Hill were well represented. We thank them very much for their help.

Mrs. Jane Norton and Mrs. Opal Hampton cooked the cakes for the "prettiest girl," and the "ugliest boy." Miss Gladys Stilwell of this community and J. O. Cruson of Pickett, had the honor of receiving the cakes.

Dewey Tilley gave a special patriotic selection Saturday night.

A number of the young people of his community attended the pie supper at Pickett Friday night.

W. W. Norton is the possessor of a half bushel of Acala cotton seed. This is an extra fine variety. As Mr. Norton is the government reported of this section he is planting this seed for government test. If the seed is as good as reported, the percentage of cotton from an acre will be increased.

Several of the young people of the community took dinner with Louise Golden Sunday.

Herman Stilwell of Tulsa, is visiting his parents this week.

The young people of the community report a very good time at the singing at Mr. Stilwell's Sunday night. Mr. Casey who was present played several selections on the violin.

Mrs. Damon visited our school Friday evening.

The mother and sister of Mr. Wm. Johnson are visiting him this week.

Mrs. Duvall was at our school Monday giving the children their first lesson on the testing of eggs for setting and laying off of gardens. A great interest is being shown by the members.

J. B. Hill, county agent, was at our school Monday organizing clubs. Several became members. Mr. Callerman who came with Mr. Hill gave the children a pleasant and profitable hour, by telling them a true club story.

The fire boys have set out a string of shade trees in the parking of the paving on East 12th and will also put a row of cannas around the edge. Commissioner Deal proposed that the city furnish the trees and owners if the boys would put them out and care for them, which they readily agreed to do. These parks have heretofore been veritable eye sores.

Mrs. Walter Donaghey is down from Konawa doing some shopping.

Lies right in the fact that we sell clothes that WON'T come back — to men who WILL.

The more one sees of the great war the more one appreciates the fact that Victor Hugo's immortal description of the battle of Waterloo was not written until 1861, or 46 years after it happened, and time had been given for the dust to settle. It was 37 years after Waterloo that Tennyson wrote "Bury the Great Duke With an Empire's Lamentation."

At the end of her vacation Joy came home, her head completely enveloped in clouds. She did not notice Roy's absence until her mother, who had waited for her to ask where he was, volunteered the information that he was away on business.

One day after her return King called. He decorously acknowledged Joy's introduction to her mother, and after the latter left he talked pleasantly for 10 or 15 minutes.

"I came to tell you something," Miss Joy, he said.

Joy's heart fluttered. She felt that she could guess what he wanted to say. He went on.

"You know," he said, "it has been inevitable that I marry some day, and my mother promised that she would help me in the search for a suitable wife. I may tell you now that she has succeeded." Joy gasped as he took a picture out of his pocket and showed it to her. "You see, mother is a—rather particular and her judgment in finally picking this girl shows her excellent taste. The girl is a dream, is she not, Miss Joy? Of course, it goes without saying that she is rich. Mother would never allow me to marry a poor girl. Why, Miss Joy, are you faint? Your lovely color has completely disappeared."

"Oh, I'm all right," Joy managed to answer. Although her eyes were irrevocably opened to the kind of creature her former idol was, she pulled herself together and remained calm until the end of his visit. Finally he took his leave and courteously bade Mrs. N. farewell.

Merrill Roy hastened upstairs and burst into the room where Joy was. To his surprise she was lying face downward on the sofa. He approached and kneeling beside her gently lifted her head. She started at seeing him, but it was a happy surprise, for Joy had found that ideals aren't "all they're cracked up to be."

At suppertime she came down with a solitary gleaming on her finger. Her mother looked at it and smiled ruefully.

"Which one, Joy?" she asked. "Have you found your ideal in Mr. W—?"

"Pooh!" Joy answered, smiling radiantly. "Whom do you suppose? At present I am engaged to a poor but deserving young man with good prospects, and some time in the near future he and I are to be married. Mr. W—, well, he was a fleeting delusion, that's all."

HER IDEAL

By HELEN E. IVERS.

Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

After a long and boring evening, Roy G— finally said "Good night," receiving a very chilly answer on Joy N—'s part. Mrs. N—'s "Good night," was said in a pitying, apologetic tone. After the door closed, she turned to Joy.

"You don't know when you're well off, Joy," she cried. "Here you have the chance to marry a young man with good prospects and who loves you. Yet you spurn him. I had to come in here tonight, for fear Roy would go to sleep, your conversation was so interesting."

It was a fine bit of sarcasm, but Joy did not mind. "He is not my ideal, mother," she said. "The man I marry must be better looking than he is, and I don't want him to have good prospects; he must be enormously rich."

Mrs. N— sighed. It was certainly no use to talk to Joy.

Two weeks later, Joy went to New Hampshire for her usual autumn vacation with her grandmother. She expected to have a better time than ever this year, because her grandmother had written to tell her that there was a house-party about half a mile away. The party was chiefly made up of young people.

They were a jolly crowd and she enjoyed herself immensely, but all were glad to rest for dinner. While Joy was dressing, Christina James, one of her young hostesses, came into the room.

"You look fine, Joy," she said after surveying her guest. "I want you to look your best tonight, because a man has just come, whom we want you to meet. He's the catch of the season, dear, and as he doesn't care especially about any of us, we want you to see what you can do."

At dinner, therefore, Joy was introduced to King W—, the aforesaid Prince Charming. Her heart throbbed, suddenly, on seeing him. Where had she ever seen such a man before? He was tall and light, with sympathetic dark-brown eyes, a wonderful smile, and an engaging personality.

On the other hand, Joy herself was a bewitching little creature. She had quantities of wavy, chestnut hair, violet eyes, and a clear, transparent complexion. King W— who admired pretty faces exceedingly, immediately attached himself to her and rarely left her side during the evening, while the other guests nodded their heads and smiled knowingly.

For the next few days, she was in the seventh heaven. Every place that she went, she was accompanied by King, who proved to be wonderfully congenial. It may be added here that he was always thus with every girl he knew—it was this way that endeared him to all the feminine sex.

It developed that he had a wonderfully mellow voice and nobody but Joy could play his accompaniments suitably.

Two days before she was to go home Joy went back to her grandmother's to stay there for the remaining time. King was a constant visitor, and she became more and more enraptured.

At the end of her vacation Joy came home, her head completely enveloped in clouds. She did not notice Roy's absence until her mother, who had waited for her to ask where he was, volunteered the information that he was away on business.

One day after her return King called. He decorously acknowledged Joy's introduction to her mother, and after the latter left he talked pleasantly for 10 or 15 minutes.

Get Well

It is indeed hard to stand at one side while the stream of life flows by. A man or woman condemned to sickness that does not permit him or her to perform the active duties of life, to do his or her share of the world's work, is a pathetic figure deserving of sympathy.

Much sickness, pain and misery result from disordered kidneys and bladder. Failure of the kidneys to do their work properly and filter impurities out of the blood leads to rheumatic pains, backache, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints, puffiness under eyes, floating specks, biliousness, bladder weakness, nervousness, or other symptoms of kidney trouble.

Foley Kidney Pills

are effective in removing the cause of the trouble for they strengthen and invigorate weak or deranged kidneys and help them to normal functioning so that the blood stream is purified and the cause of disease removed.

F. M. Plate (Brakeman), Sec'y, Switchman's Union, 518 Blaine St., Peoria, Ill., writes: "Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills relieved all symptoms of my kidney and bladder trouble, stopping the backache and pains, correcting the kidney action, clearing secretions. I am also free from diabetes and kidney specks before my eyes. Foley Kidney Pills cured me and have my heartiest recommendation."

Illustrious Family.

In tracing the genealogy of a New England family that came from England in 1634, Merton T. Goodrich reports to the Journal of Heredity that 43 per cent of this man's male descendants have held public office. Of his seven sons, five of them held town offices. Many of the female descendants were teachers.

Handy Plant in Desert.

In the desert of Sonora, Mexico, there is a plant, the guarequi, which husbands its water supply. The guarequi is a relative of the squash and pumpkin, and inhabits a locality in which practically all the rain falls within a period of six weeks. The base of the stem is swollen to form a hard, woody structure, which in time attains the size of a large squash. It is really nothing more than a vegetable reservoir designed to hoard up the scanty moisture and dole out the precious fluid in time of need.
